QUESTIONS/ANSWERS

1. Can you give industry the allowable difference in bid volume estimate vs. the actual volume order pattern?
2. Section 530 of the FPPS for Chicken Fajita Strips, states that the commodity shall not be processed/packaged more than 60 days prior to the first day of the delivery period. Redeema stated on the call that orders will be placed 45 days prior to delivery. Unless all months volume is the same, then these two constraints will limit our ability to meet the possible swings in recipient agency demand. Will there be flexibility in allowing processors more than 60 days rule with a highly volatile order pattern?
3. Is this going to be a fixed price solicitation or a market based solicitation?
Firm Fixed Price (FFP), IDIQ
