Mission

Superior Dairy's successful history of supplying quality fluid milk, ice cream, culture and juice products since 1922 is because we never break the trust of our consumer. Commitment to continuous improvement has driven this company to providing safe, quality foods. Our tradition has always been to exceed our customer's expectations in quality while always complying with all regulatory requirements. Recognizing our needs for the commitment to the quality/food safety, Superior Dairy has always worked under the guidance of the Pasteurized Milk Ordinance, maintains a HACCP food safety system, and has implemented a Safe Quality Foods (SQF 2000) system. Superior Dairy is continuously audited by approved Independent auditing and federal agencies that assumes we meet their highest standards.

Management, support staff, supervisors, and all hourly union employees are familiar with the food safety policy and their responsibilities to meet those standards. Our upper management supports the safe/quality foods programs by providing the support to provide training to all new employees and continued training for current employees to understand their responsibilities. The senior management staff at Superior Dairy will provide all of the resources to maintain and improve our food safety and quality programs. Our success in food safety and quality will be measured by the commitment of our upper management to support development and ongoing requirements of the SQF system.
