Nutralliance markets raw materials to the food, nutritional, and personal care markets in North America. We produce a variety of raw materials from both sunflower and rapeseed materials which are 100% NON-GMO.

In your section #4 you discuss having highly refined soy bean oil be exempt since they can be listed as PCR Negative. We believe this ruling creates a false impact to the true nature of NON-GMO. This type of interpretation would allow several other products that can show "No GMO" detected to be allowed. It would be a deception to the consumer and should not be allowed.
